Fire Destroys Ralph A. White Garage In Littlestown; Loss Is Between $75,000 - $100,000

Fire, of undetermined origin, early Sunday morning destroyed the garage of Ralph A. White, Pontiac dealer, at North Queen and Locust streets, Littlestown, with a loss estimated at between $75,000 and $100,000, partially covered by insurance.

The fire was discovered about 1 o'clock by Robert J. Stoness, Littlestown, as he was leaving the White home, across Locust street from the garage. Littlestown firemen were called, and had the blaze under control until an explosion spread the flames and a portion of the roof caved in.

Calls for outside assistance were sent out, and the Gettysburg fire department responded with its aerial ladder truck, three pumps, and the service truck. Taneytown and Kingsdale fire companies each sent a pumper. The alarm was sounded here at 1:30 o'clock.

The fire is believed to have started on the second floor, used for the storage of automobile tires and parts. Four automobiles, one a 1952 model, the cash register and a few items of office equipment were saved before the flames raged out of control.

Utility Lines Severed

When a section of the roof over the south part of the building fell in, the brick wall on the front part of this section toppled into the street, knocking over a gasoline pump. Telephone and electric wires caught fire. Employees of the Metropolitan Edison company cut the power lines, and gas was shut off by employees of the Manufacturers Light and Heat company.

At the height of the blaze, the three pieces of equipment of the Alpha Fire company of Littlestown and pumps from Gettysburg, Kingsdale and Taneytown had 12 streams of water on the building. Out of town equipment remained at the scene until after 4 o'clock; two Littlestown trucks remained until 5:30 o'clock and another until 8:30 a.m. The ruins of the south end of the building smoldered most of Sunday, and a line of hose was attached to a fire hydrant on the square in the event that the flames broke out again.

Smoke Hampers Firemen

Dense smoke from burning automobile tires hampered the firemen, and several were temporarily overcome. Smoke rose high in the air and flames were visible for several miles. Edward Warner, Littlestown, was treated for an eye injury after being struck by a stream of water. Francis Linn, Gettysburg, was knocked down by a hose line.

Fire Chief Glenn E. Ohler, Littlestown, today extended his thanks to the firemen from other communities who gave assistance; to the auxiliary of the Alpha Fire company which served coffee to firemen, and to the VFW post and Littlestown Eagles who opened their homes and provided coffee and food.

Set Up Temporary Office

The White garage was of brick and concrete block construction, with a frontage of 100 feet on North Queen street. Mr. White announced today that a temporary office will be set up in his service station on North Queen street opposite the burned building, and that the north part of the latter will be repaired and used later for business. The White home and the paint shop located in the rear of it were not damaged.

Employees of the garage include Harold Messinger, Ralph Strausbaugh, John Harmon, Robert Morgret, Eugene Hawk and Paul E. Alt.

Ivan Rickrode, a member of the Alpha fire company, reported that he found a set of keys at the fire which the owner may claim at Rickrode's home, West Myrtle street.

WOMAN BADLY BURNED IN FIRE SATURDAY NIGHT

Mrs. Anna B. Greene, 70, is in serious condition in the Warner hospital from burns received Saturday night in a fire which completely destroyed the home of her son and daughter-in-law Mr. and Mrs. Claude O. Greene, Littlestown R. 1, four miles south of Littlestown in Carroll county, Maryland.

At the hospital Mrs. Greene's condition this afternoon was reported as "good." She suffered second degree burns of the face, neck, back, arms and hands, in an attempt to extinguish the flames.

The fire was discovered shortly after Mr. and Mrs. Greene had returned from Frederick. The mother had been staying at the Greene home with the four children, whose ages range from four to eight years. An explosion in the kitchen stove is believed to have been the cause.

The Alpha Fire company, Littlestown, was called at 8:15 p.m., but the firemen were unable to save the house, which was completely destroyed.

No Estimate Of Loss

Mrs. Greene was removed to the office of Dr. Philip D. Zulick, Littlestown, and from there to the Warner hospital in the Littlestown community ambulance.

Firemen made no estimate of the loss, which they said was covered by insurance.

The Greens lost all their possessions and personal effects, and the Ladies Auxiliary of the Alpha Fire company today sought clothing, bedding, food and other articles for the stricken family.

Members of the auxiliary will be at the fire house Tuesday and Wednesday evenings to receive contributions. Mr. Greene's size was given as 38, and Mrs. Greene's, 18. The oldest child is an eight-year-old girl; there are two boys, seven and five, and a four-year-old girl.

BEGIN K. C. CLASS AS MEMORIAL TO FATHER STOCK AT SUNDAY SESSION

Start of a "Father Mark E. Stock Memorial class" membership drive by the Gettysburg council of the Knights of Columbus was marked Sunday by a dinner for members and their ladies at the Hotel Gettysburg followed by a meeting of the organization in the K. of C. hall on Lincoln Square.

culminate in a large class of applicants for membership to be known as the Father-Stock Memorial class."

Rev. Fr. William Lyons, principal of Delone high school; Rev. Fr. Louis Dougherty, chaplain at White Hill industrial school; Rev. Dr. Charles Parks, Hanover; Kenneth Smith, Grand Knight of the Hanover K. of C.; 31st District Deputy Grand Knight Bernard Noel, McSherrystown, and Past 18th District Deputy Simon Stock all spoke in support of the membership campaign and the value of membership in the Knights of Columbus.

Dr. Wasilifsky speaks. Rev. Fr. Anthony P. Kane, pastor of St. Francis Xavier Catholic church, welcomed the group. Dr. J. Walter Coleman was master of ceremonies.

Dr. Adolph M. Wasilifsky, head of the department of humanities and professor of English at St. Joseph college, Emmitsburg, the principal speaker, told the group: "The 18th century marked the lowest ebb of religion since the birth of Christ. In Europe the leaders of thought were the agnostics and atheists, Voltaire and the encyclopedists. But in our country, at the time of the revolution, the leaders were men who believed in God, from Ben Franklin to the devoutly religious George Washington."

"Here in America we find that much of man's dignity has been lost. Today we have destroyed for many the human concept of the home, by forcing both mother and father to work to support themselves and their children. It may provide enough money for support, but the home has lost its heart and the result is delinquency."

Dr. Wasilifsky said. "We have even lost social charity. We have replaced charity with mechanical drives. We write checks, but who visits the hospital for incurables? Human dignity demands more than money."

Stating that "there is a constant questioning today of what is a Catholic," Doctor Wasilifsky observed, "We can say that a Catholic is one who stands by reason rather than emotion. One who realizes that without law there is chaos. And we see the world about us today in chaos. Four hundred years ago we saw the great mystery, the breakdown of religion, until now there seem to be as many religions as in-chinches."

UN Offers To Drop Norway As Truce Supervisor If Commies Drop Demand For Soviet Russia

Seoul, Korea, Feb. 25 (AP)—U.N. Korean war ground into its 21st month today. There was virtually no fighting to mark the date.

Heavy clouds and snow grounded most Allied warplanes. Only a few fighter bombers went out on rail-cutting missions.

Fifth Air Force planes flew only 180 sorties Monday, far under the daily average. South Korean and American Mustang pilots and marine Corsair pilots cut North Korean rail lines at 13 places.

South African Mustang pilots reported they killed an estimated 75 Reds in an attack on a Communist billeting area.

American Mustang fliers said they destroyed or damaged 31 Communist troop or supply emplacements.

Few Brief Clashes

Reports from scattered points along the 155-mile front indicated the usual pattern of recent fighting—probes, patrols and a few brief clashes.

Far East Air Forces reported its pilots destroyed about 200 supply trucks in widespread attacks Sunday. That was the highest number in several months.

Other pilots cut Communist rails in 145 places and destroyed 10 gun positions, 35 supply buildings and 30 bunkers.

For the first time in eight days there were no air battles between Communist and Allied jets Sunday.

Announcement was made this morning by Richard Brubaker, Hanover, a South Penn official, that Tuesday, March 4, has been set as the date for the expected playoff between Hanover and Chambersburg for the second half title. Hanover is at present leading the race. Chambersburg, 57-38 winner at Shippensburg, is host to Shippensburg Friday night and should win with ease to create a tie requiring a playoff. In the event Hanover should win Tuesday another game for the league title will be needed inasmuch as Chambersburg took the first half honors. If a second game is required it will be played Friday, March 7.

Prof. C. E. Bilheimer, athletic director at Gettysburg college, said he had not yet been contacted in regards to the availability of the floor.

Munsan, Korea, Feb. 25 (AP)—U.N. truce negotiators moved to break the deadlock over selection of a neutral truce supervisory commission today by offering to withdraw their nomination of Norway if the Reds would give up Russia.

Under the Allied proposal behind-the-lines inspections during an armistice would be made by representatives of only two neutral nations for each side rather than three.

The U.N. would be represented by Switzerland and Sweden; the Communists by Czechoslovakia and Poland.

Allied staff officers asked the Reds to study the proposal carefully and reply later.

"Fruitless Meeting"

The only immediate reaction came from Chinese Col. Pu Shan who declared: "You have no justification to object to the nations nominated by our side which are in compliance with the definition of neutral nations."

Staff officers working on prisoner exchange made no headway during a 58-minute session. Col. George W. Hickman called it a "completely fruitless" meeting.

The Communists complained that four Allied aircraft flew over the neutral Panmunjom conference site Sunday. The Reds demanded an investigation.

"It appears that your side has taken no action to restrict your aircraft," said Col. Tsai Cheng.

Col. Andrew J. Kinney told Tsai, "We note your statement. We will take it up later when we get the facts."

In addition to proposing a compromise supervisory commission plan, Allied staff officers submitted a re-phrased paragraph covering the inspection of armament replacements during a truce.

It provided that neutral teams would be permitted to check equipment only enough "to properly insure" that it was of the same type being replaced.

The plan specifies that "this shall not be construed as authorizing inspections or examinations of any secret designs or characteristics of any combat aircraft, armored vehicles, weapons and ammunition."

The Reds, who advocate a more thorough inspection, replied only: "We have fully expressed our views on this matter."

The staff officers made no progress toward agreeing on the number of ports of entry to be checked on each side.

There was no mention in the prisoner exchange negotiations of the bloody riot at the U.N. prison camp on Kojima island a week ago.

Communist staff officers denied as "groundless and a fabrication" U.N. charges Sunday that the Reds have imprisoned war prisoners into the Red armies and that the committee may be holding U.N. prisoners on the Chinese mainland.

Both groups of staff officers agreed to meet again at 11 a.m. Tuesday (9 p.m. EST Monday) in Panmunjom.

A picture taken immediately after the battle from the top of Culp's hill shows what appears to be a road down the side of the hill from which trees have been cleared, giving a view of Gettysburg. Doctor Coleman said that in keeping with the program of attempting to restore the battlefield to its appearance at the time of the battle, clearing work will begin on Culp's hill in the near future to restore the clearing that existed during the battle.

Joseph Grable, superintendent of the Essex Wire plant here, spoke on the progress of that organization toward getting into production here.

Bisons Snap Bullets' Win Streak With 73-71 Verdict

Gettysburg college's five-game basketball winning streak came to an end Saturday night at Lewisburg when the Bucknell Bisons scored a thrilling 73-71 victory over a sea-saw battle.

The Bullets were severely handicapped due to the absence of Bob Pizolato who suffered a sprained ankle during practice Friday night and may miss the remaining three contests.

Bucknell got off to a whirlwind start by piling up a 9-0 lead before Joe Lang drove through for a Bullet goal after 2:15 minutes. A pair of goals by Gene Coder and one by Watson reduced the Bisons' margin to 25-17 at the end of the first period.

Coach "Hen" Bream's outfit began to close the gap in the second quarter and registered eight straight points on a foul by Lang, goals by Resanovich and a pair by Hare, and a free toss by Resanovich before Wagner landed a foul shot for the Bisons. Gettysburg took the lead for the first time at 31-30 on a set shot by Lang and three fouls by Watson and a single by Keller. In the last minute and a half of the round McKibbin and Gallagher scored from the field to give Bucknell a 34-31 lead at the half.

Nip and Tuck Finish
The Bisons clung to a narrow margin throughout most of the third frame before a pair of goals by Keller put Gettysburg ahead 47-46 with four minutes left. Bucknell surged back to grab a 56-52 lead at the intermission.

In the last period the Bullets finally caught up and moved ahead at 65-64 with four minutes remaining. The score was tied three times thereafter and Lang's goal and a pair of fouls by Resanovich made it 71-71 with nine seconds to go. Deloca put the clincher on the game for Bucknell with a goal.

The Bullets will meet Muhlenberg here Wednesday evening at 8:30 o'clock, the game starting at the late hour due to Ash Wednesday services in the local churches.

Baseball Training Camp Briefs

Philadelphia, Feb. 25 (AP) — Last week was a total loss on the baseball court for Pennsylvania's two top cage teams.

Duquesne, riding on the crest of an 18-game winning streak as the country's only major unbeaten squad, was dumped Saturday night in Philadelphia by Villanova in overtime. The Ducks had previously whipped the Wildcats 83-61 at Pittsburgh.

For Penn State college, ranked 13th nationally in last week's Associated Press poll, the week brought an end to a 15-game overtime periods thrown in, the Nittany Lions dropped three ball games in four nights.

Third Loss For Penn State
Penn gave the Lions their second whipping of the year, 54-52 at the Palestra Wednesday. Friday Penn State dropped an overtime thriller to Colgate, 65-63, at Hamilton, N.Y. And the next night they battled two periods before going down before Syracuse 76-72.

Duquesne (18-1), third in the AP poll last week, ran into too much Larry Hennessey against Villanova. The fancy-shooting Villanova stalwart threw in 27 points from all angles of the floor as his teammates played heads-up ball to pull one of the major upsets of the year.

Coach Al Severance's Philadelphians have been beaten seven times while winning 15.

The Pittsburghers have already received a bid to the National Invitation basketball tournament next month in New York city.

Coach Elmer Gross and his Penn State squad was greeted with an impromptu student reception when they returned to State College yesterday. The club now has a 17-4 slate with three games remaining.

30 More For Arnette
State's brilliant freshman center, Jessie Arnette, continued his record-breaking point production through the Lions' three consecutive defeats. He collected 30 points Saturday against Syracuse and had 23 to top the scoring in the Penn-Penn State game.

It was a different story for Temple university's cagers. They won two out of and Capt. Bill Mikvy, approaching the end of his collegiate career, came through with two memorable performances. He hit his personal season high Wednesday, establishing a new Rockne Hall record at Allentown by garnering 46 points as the Owls rolled over Muhlenberg.

Saturday Mikvy continued his late season spree by leading the Owls to a 76-67 upset over St. Joseph's with 31 points. Mikvy bows out in a Temple uniform when the Owls end the season against St. Joseph's Saturday.

BULLET MATMEN DOWN OWLS TO STAY UNBEATEN

Capturing the last three bouts on two falls and a forfeit, the undefeated Gettysburg college wrestling team copped its fifth straight victory by defeating Temple university at Philadelphia Saturday 22-10.

Don Woods, 121, kept his perfect record intact in the opening bout by decisioning McCreary, 4-3. Sam Evangelista, 130, also unbeaten, was forced to accept a draw with Jim Mackey while Earl Yost, 147, victorious in his only previous start, also grappled to a draw with Marino.

Two other unbeaten Bullets won by falls. Al Hershberger, 167, tossed Fulton in 4:24 while Jim Spangler, 167, pinned Guido in 5:47. Ron Miller, heavyweight, kept his record clean via a forfeit.

Coincidentally with this mass toughening-up for the blood letting ahead, George Allen, football coach at Whittier college in California, has forwarded to this department the results of some intensive research he made last season into the actual time his stalwarts spent in the heat of conflict.

Playing Time 11 Minutes
"Two men were assigned to cover each game, to watch the Whittier team only," Allen explains. "Both men used highly refined spot watches. The watch was not started until the center snapped the ball, and it was stopped immediately upon the referee's whistle."

"This procedure, then, eliminated from the time clock all huddling, approaching the ball, calling signals, time after completed passes, time taken for substitutions, penalties, etc. Only actual body contact was recorded as playing time."

"The average playing time in each game for the eight-game schedule was precisely 11 minutes, 34 seconds. One afternoon the actual playing time dropped to 9:14."

Mostly On Defense
"Whittier employs the two-rotation system. The offensive team's maximum playing time in any single contest was just 6:10.5."

"The total average time for the offensive team in action for the eight-game schedule was 5:11. The total average time for the defensive team in action for the eight games was 6:23."

After looking over this batch of figures, almost the first thing the gridiron addict is going to ask himself is "what was I doing sitting on that cold concrete for nearly three hours, growing corns on myself, while those big guys down there were practically taking the afternoon off?"

Just how Allen, himself, is going to utilize the information he doesn't say. It doesn't figure to help him much if he was thinking of asking for a raise, because it shows all too clearly that his team spent more time on defense than on offense. We wouldn't call that a healthy situation.

West Palm Beach, Fla., Feb. 25 (AP) — Five days before the regular opening of spring training the Philadelphia Athletics have 23 players in camp.

The 23rd to arrive was Tom Hamilton, former University of Texas basketball player, who was with Lincoln, Neb., last year. Ten players were on hand last Wednesday when battermen were due to report.

One of those not present but expected momentarily is Ferris Paine, the A's 1951 American league batting champ. The slugger's gear got here yesterday.

Sarasota, Fla., Feb. 25 (AP) — After a brief clubhouse meeting with Manager Lou Boudreau this morning, the Boston Red Sox will have the rest of the day for golfing and fishing.

Boudreau has been working his charges overtime and agrees they rate a holiday.

Bradenton, Fla., Feb. 25 (AP) — Manager Tommy Holmes has a seven-inning practice game on tap for his Boston Braves and he plans to see at least 14 of his pitchers in action.

Lefty Warren Spahn checked into camp yesterday and, between the showers that curtailed the sabbath drill, went through a breath-taking workout.

New York, Feb. 25 (AP) — At many points in this broad land, especially in the sunny south, thousands of pounds of football players are practicing like everything today, learning plays and toughening up physically for the terrible grind of an eight or nine-game schedule next fall.

This is extremely important, the college coaches say, because it is well known that a knight of the gridiron who isn't trained down within an inch of his life, hard in every sniew and muscle and able to run all day, hasn't a chance of holding his own in the modern game.

Coincidentally with this mass toughening-up for the blood letting ahead, George Allen, football coach at Whittier college in California, has forwarded to this department the results of some intensive research he made last season into the actual time his stalwarts spent in the heat of conflict.

Baseball Training Camp Briefs

Philadelphia, Feb. 25 (AP) — Last week was a total loss on the baseball court for Pennsylvania's two top cage teams.

Duquesne, riding on the crest of an 18-game winning streak as the country's only major unbeaten squad, was dumped Saturday night in Philadelphia by Villanova in overtime. The Ducks had previously whipped the Wildcats 83-61 at Pittsburgh.

For Penn State college, ranked 13th nationally in last week's Associated Press poll, the week brought an end to a 15-game overtime periods thrown in, the Nittany Lions dropped three ball games in four nights.

Coach Al Severance's Philadelphians have been beaten seven times while winning 15.

The Pittsburghers have already received a bid to the National Invitation basketball tournament next month in New York city.

Coach Elmer Gross and his Penn State squad was greeted with an impromptu student reception when they returned to State College yesterday. The club now has a 17-4 slate with three games remaining.

U. S. WINS TIE IN FINAL HOCKEY TILT ON SUNDAY

By BEN PILEGAR

Oslo, Feb. 25 (AP) — The city of Oslo wrapped up the 1952 winter Olympic games today but there was a lot of trouble getting the final knot tied.

The United States played Canada to a furious 3-3 draw and picked up second place to the Canadian's championship in the hockey tournament last night for runner-up honors to Norway in the final standings for the 10 days of competition.

The hockey game was supposed to have been the final competition in these king-sized games, which drew a record entry of 1,178 athletes from 30 nations.

Closing Ceremony Today
Today was reserved for the colorful formal closing spectacle and the awarding of medals under the floodlights in Bislett stadium.

But the organizing committee found itself with two hockey games to be played. They will affect third, fourth and sixth places in the tournament standings.

Poland tackles Norway in the morning and can take sixth place by winning. Czechoslovakia and Sweden were ordered to play off their third place tie at Jerdal stadium starting at 11 a.m., Eastern Standard Time, only two hours before the closing ceremonies.

Norwegians Win
The host Norwegians, far and away the biggest point scorers, won their customary first and second places in the ski jumping yesterday before 150,000 onlookers—the largest crowd ever to see a winter Olympic event. The Norwegians have won the first two places in jumping in four of the five previous winter Olympics and they've always carried off the first place gold medal.

The United States was an easy second in the point department behind Norway's 125½. Finland followed with 72 and Austria with 60.

Uncle Sam's son and daughters won four first-place gold medals and produced their first double ski winner—Andrea Mead Lawrence, victorious in the women's slalom and giant slalom.

Ken Deardorff Sets New All-State Mark

Ken Deardorff, son of Mr. and Mrs. K. O. Deardorff, Steinwehr avenue, star basketball player for the York Junior college team, set an all-time state junior college scoring record by accounting for 43 points as York defeated Keystone Junior college Saturday 86-51.

Deardorff, who was voted a national junior college All-American player last year, landed 15 goals and 13 fouls.

ONE HUNDRED YEARS AGO

Cold Weather: The mercury on Friday morning was down to 3 degrees only above zero! This is, truly, one of the winters!

Married: On the 25th inst., by the Rev. Thomas Creigh, Mr. Hugh F. King, of Straban township, to Miss Charlotte E. Horner, of Bridgeport, Franklin county.

On the 24th inst., by the Rev. Jacob Ziegler, Mr. Thomas Shaky, of Butler township, to Miss Catherine Allison, of Cumberland township.

Charity Concert: We take pleasure in stating that a large and fashionable assemblage crowded McCaughy's Hall on Monday night at the "Concert given for the Poor." It was an exquisite musical entertainment and the audience testified their appreciation of the talents of the company, by rapturous applause. The musical selections were very choice and were performed in masterly style.

We have no hesitancy in saying that the lady performing the piece called "Ship on Fire," did great credit to herself as well as to the place in which she lives. The piece is very difficult to execute and she displayed high musical talent in the execution of it.

The "Gettys Lodge Band" also gave the audience, in the "Rail Road Galop," some idea of the pleasure of hearing the locomotive coming into our town. We have it in imagination, if not in reality.

The Concert concluded with the inimitable performance of the song "Johnny Sands," which displayed in full the last result of matrimonial strife.

We take pride in stating that there are few towns which can boast of as excellent set of musicians. All performed their parts in most excellent style. The clear profits, for distribution among the poor, we understand, are about $39.50.

There is nothing of interest in either Houses of Congress.

Borough Election: The Borough Election on Tuesday excited more than usual interest. The Democrats this year directed special attention to the offices of Burgess, Constable and Council, but lost all. The entire Republican ticket was elected by majorities ranging from 8 to 152. We annex the vote.

Today's Talk

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

THE NEW DAY

All over this world the breaking of light, that signifies a new day, is a miracle performed! The late Dr. John H. Finley expressed this idea most beautifully when he said: "To be seeing the world made new every morning, as if it were the morning of the first day, and then to make the most of it for the individual soul, as if it were the last day—is the daily curriculum of the mind's desire."

Every new day should be good news for each one of us. Something to live for, something in which to express new resolves and a better use for all our faculties. Each one of us has much more to be grateful for than we make note of, or realize. The entire world of nature is ours. It has no single owner. And we have the published, and preserved, ideas and expressions of the greatest minds the world has produced.

We are today living in a higher state of knowledge than has been experienced by any period in the world's history. Yet our vaunted civilization is being challenged as never before. How can we call ourselves educated and civilized when we spend such a great part of our substance for savage warfare? That is the one tragic piece of news that faces us with the dawn of every new day.

Where and how has our reverence for life lost those magic links that God meant should bind the world to universal peace and happiness? The madness of military might can never cure the sickness of the soul, nor its secret longings. The humble people of the world want only simple justice, and the chance to live out their lives in decent fashion as God meant them to. They want freedom to pursue happiness in their own way. They want their new day without fear.

When is this new day to come about? Not until the thinking of the world changes and the same effort and treasure now devoted to war are turned to peace and good will by all the nations of the world. The brave boys who fight a war, no matter on which side they may be! This is their prayer: "Give us this day."

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "If You Love Enough."

THE MISSING TALENT
I should have learned mechanics, as once my grandsire told. Said he: "You'll need a skill with tools whatever post you hold. You ought to know how things are made and how they are repaired."

But, I'd no love for springs and gears. It was for books I cared.

My grandpa was a useful man and handy as could be, But what he knew of wrench and drill he could not pass to me. Perhaps it is with some of us that tools and books won't mix, But there was nothing in the house that grandpa couldn't fix.

To grandpa things were feminine, and in his simple way Whenever anything broke down: "I'll fix her!" he would say. But I, when clock or motor stops, in ignorance remain, Wishing my grandsire still were here to "start her up" again.

P.A. DELEGATION ADOPTS "WAIT AND SEE" STAND

Philadelphia, Feb. 24 (AP)—A "wait and see" attitude silenced the Pennsylvania Republican convention delegation today as it dodged continued questions on whom it will support for the presidential nomination.

With 36 of 70 delegates practically chosen the group right now is the largest named by any state. But virtually all are mum on what they'll do when they get to Chicago July 7.

Pennsylvania, the Keystone state, actually was the keystone in 1943 as it led the way for nomination of Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York.

Today the professional politicians, knowing their batch of votes are vital, are maneuvering in hopes of starting the rush for whoever will get the '52 presidential bid.

Ten delegates-at-large have been named by the state Republican committee, while 26—two each from 13 districts—are unopposed at the April 22 primary. District delegates can be opposed by write-in candidates and conceivably could be beaten.

Fifteen of this group said flatly: "We are uninstructed, unpicked." Fourteen others could not be reached but associates said they, too, were not committed.

Only seven hinted how they may vote—five leaning toward Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio; two for Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower. One of the Taft "leaners" said he might switch to Gen. Douglas MacArthur if there was a convention deadlock.

Gov. John S. Fine, a delegate-at-large and nominal head of the delegation, said he will decide after the April 22 primary whom he will support. Thirty-four other delegates will be elected then.

"I'm not trying to be coy about this matter," Fine said. "I just don't have any fixed opinion at this time."

The preference vote is not binding on the state's convention delegates. On the ballot are the names of Eisenhower, Harold E. Stassen, former governor of Minnesota, and Gen. Douglas MacArthur. MacArthur has asked that his name be withdrawn.

Weekly Farm And Garden Section

Seed Box Should Be Deep Enough To Nourish Plants

If you plan to start flower or vegetable seeds indoors this spring, before it is safe to sow them in the garden, don't pave the way to failure by using inadequate equipment.

Seeds can be sown on a moist piece of blotting paper, but they will not grow into plants without sufficient soil, or soil substitute, to allow their roots to develop without crowding. Too small a seed box may be little better than the blotting paper; it will sprout the seeds, but cannot provide them with nourishment for growth.

A stout wooden box which holds at least two inches of soil is adequate. The standard "flat" used for the purpose is sold knock-down, in sizes from 14 x 21 1/4 to 5 x 24 inches. These are easily put together by driving a few nails, and will grow plants to garden size without check.

To fill them, porous soil is required, or a substitute. Vermiculite and sphagnum moss are good substitutes, but neither has any nourishment for the plants. Food must be provided as soon as the plants have developed true leaves, otherwise the plants will die.

Soil will nourish the plants without chemical feeding and many amateurs prefer it for this reason.

If you did not bring some of your best garden top soil into shelter last fall, then dig it during the first thaw, and allow it to dry out gradually in a garage or cellar. If thawing soil is heated, it will dry fast, but form clods which cannot be broken up. When dried slowly, good soil will crumble and can be mixed with sand and humus.

A mixture of one-third top soil, one-third sharp sand, and one-third peat moss or humus will make a good soil for flats. These should be well mixed, and passed through a sieve to get all lumps out. When you fill the flats, put the lumps in the bottom, and only the finest soil on top.

Light may be a limiting factor when a seed box is kept in a window of your home. A south window that gets the full sun, unshaded by trees and neighboring buildings, will usually be sufficient. With other exposures artificial light, which has been proved to serve the purpose, can easily be provided. Hang a lamp above the box, and let it burn all night. A 40-watt fluorescent lamp can be hung a foot above the box, but a tungsten lamp should be high enough so that it does not bring the temperature of the box higher than 65 degrees at night.

YES, GROW RASPBERRIES

Red, black and purple varieties of raspberries furnish a succession of maturing fruit in summer that fits admirably into the housewife's program of quick-freezing and canning or into the commercial grower's marketing plans. In fact, there are at least four sound reasons why gardeners and farmers should grow raspberries, along with other bramble fruits. They are:

1. Raspberries are a delicious fruit for immediate table use and for canning and freezing for consumption around the year.

2. The same reasons which render them desirable for family use serve to win them a sustained market demand in all urban communities.

3. In comparison to tree fruits, raspberries and other brambles are extremely inexpensive to grow, both in initial costs, including labor, and life of bearing.

4. Because they come into bloom quite late, raspberries suffer fewer dangers of late spring frosts than do most other fruits.

There is a widespread tendency for over-emphasis of red varieties in starting raspberries, to the exclusion of black and purple sorts. Of course, the red varieties are delightful, especially as a dessert fruit. And this merit commands for them top prices at roadside stands and in urban markets. But they are extremely fragile to handle, losses may be heavy when rains come during the ripening period, and production may not be as high as that of other brambles. So, it seems reasonable that beginners should not "put all their eggs in one basket" in this matter. Certainly, if they want red raspberries, by all means they should plant a sufficient number to satisfy their desires. But at the same time it is always wise to place first or major emphasis on black-cap and purple varieties for both home consumption and sale. After surveying many urban markets and weighing the general bramble fruit situation, the editor is convinced there is a greater under-production of black raspberries than of purple and red varieties. The black group of raspberries are easily handled, bear heavily, and move to consumers with little damage.

Every person interested in growing raspberries should write his or her Congressman at once for a free copy of Farmers' Bulletin 887—Growing Raspberries. In the meantime plants should be ordered for March 1 delivery. They should be set out as early in March as soils can be made ready. If plants must be held longer than one day after delivery, they should be heeled in to protect the roots from drying.

Growers who intend to grow this fruit on a commercial scale should locate their plantations on fairly mistakes occur, is the proper time to clear up all doubts.

NOTES ON DORMANT SPRAYING

Every owner of fruit and shade trees, grape vines, bramble fruits, gooseberry and currant plants, blueberries, and ornamental shrubs, including roses, should clearly understand at this time of the year the full but limited purposes of dormant spraying. The necessity of such knowledge is seen in five related facts:

1. Dormant sprays are wholly ignored in many instances, particularly by owners of but a few fruit and shade trees, shrubs and small fruits.

2. At the other extreme many persons look on dormant spraying as a glorious cure-all that takes the place of many other and equally as important cultural practices.

3. Others forget the word "dormant," and delay this essential work until buds begin to open or leaves appear at which time it is too late to apply safely these winter sprays.

4. Often the work is done at the right time with the proper kind and strength of materials yet it is done carelessly, with a sort of literal hit-and-miss method.

5. With vague aims in mind the owner often applies dormant sprays without definite knowledge of what insect enemies he is combating and what diseases he is trying to prevent, with the unprofitable result that he uses the wrong kind of materials or the right materials at too weak a strength.

No one hard-and-fast rule can be laid down as to why dormant spraying is necessary. For example, on a particular plum tree the application may be needed solely to kill off a heavy infestation of San Jose scales, while a few feet away several peach trees need a dormant spray for the one purpose of preventing leaf curl. In short, the tree owner must first know that San Jose scales are infesting his plum tree. Likewise he must know that leaf curl was severe last year on his peach trees.

There are several commercial so-called oil sprays on the market for this role, usually sold as miscible oils. Directions for diluting and mixing should be followed because strengths vary among the numerous kinds. Lime-sulphur concentrate has long been used in this important work, diluted at the rate of one part concentrate with 7 parts water.

Briefly dormant spraying controls scales on all woody plants. It prevents leaf curl of peach trees and reduces brown rot of peaches and other stone fruits. With apples, especially when the application is delayed until the buds show silvery green, it destroys unattached aphids, kills scales, red bugs and the European mite, and reduces frog-eye. It controls scales on gooseberry and current bushes and helps curb anthracnose of these two fruits. It provides control of scales on all deciduous shrubs and shade trees and aids in reducing blight of lillacs.

Many rose growers prefer a dormant application of Bordeaux mixture to help mildew, black-spot and rust. But if scales are present, one of the miscible oils or lime-sulphur will be necessary.

Dormant sprays cannot be employed on evergreen trees and shrubs because foliage injury will result. Of course, it is not needed generally because, as already mentioned, it is not a cure-all. Growers who have any questions or doubts on this subject should write the editor at once.

Dry Cleaners Hit By TV Popularity

Philadelphia, Feb. 25 (AP)—Decreased attendance at baseball parks and a drop in the number of moviegoers aren't the only conditions blamed on the advent of television.

A vice president of the Pennsylvania Cleaners and Dyers association says that when TV went big time in 1949 dry cleaning went into a slump.

The association found that most of the business it wasn't getting was lost in homes that had just put in TV. The conclusion was that people watching just lounged around in old clothes and therefore didn't patronize the cleaning establishments as they used to.

But Joseph H. Needleman told the directors of the association at a forum over the week-end that in 1950 business picked up and in 1951 the industry's "depressed state" was "relieved."

"Perhaps television is no longer a novelty," Needleman added.

Five University of Alaska students in 1951 scaled 13,200-foot Mt. Hees in the Alaska range for the first time.

Cerro Boliver, Venezuela's mountain of iron, is one of the world's richest deposits.

Agree To Undertake Truck Weight Study

Harrisburg, Feb. 25 (AP)—Rep. Baker Royer (R-Lancaster) said today the joint State Government commission has agreed to undertake a study of the truck weight controversy in Pennsylvania.

The commission has not decided on the extent of its survey which was requested by Gov. John H. Pine. "We need manpower and we need money," said Royer, chairman of the General Assembly's research arm.

Roter said the exact nature of the study will be decided in the next 10 days. The commission was given $300,000 by the 1951 Legislature to undertake 13 separate investigations before the truck weight probe was thrust upon it.

Fine, in vetoing legislation to increase the weight limit of commonly used trucks on Pennsylvania highways from 45,000 pounds to 60,000 pounds, asked the agency to make such a study. Royer said the recent Maryland road test will be considered by the research commission which will make recommendations to the 1953 Legislature.

KEFAUVER, KERR BATTLE LOOMS FOR DEMOCRATS

(By The Associated Press)
A showdown fight for the Democratic presidential nomination appeared in the making today between Senators Estes Kefauver of Tennessee and Robert S. Kerr of Oklahoma—provided President Truman decides not to run.

But Gov. Adlai Stevenson of Illinois and Vice President Barkley still were prominent in the speculation.

Kerr gained strength by apparently lining up Democratic leaders in his own state behind a "favorite son" campaign. Senator Monroney (D-Okla.) said he would not oppose Kerr, and Gov. Johnston Murray is expected to issue a statement supporting him.

First Test April 1
Carl V. Rice, Kansas national committeeman and a Kerr backer, has claimed Kerr will gain Oklahoma's 24 delegation votes and enough others to have 200 before convention time.

This first big test between Kefauver and Kerr will come in Nebraska's primary April 1.

Kerr's chances depend partly on when Truman announces his plans. The Oklahoma says he will back the President if he runs. On the other hand, Kefauver says he will seek the nomination regardless of Truman.

Two Alternates
Senator McMahon (D-Conn.), a Truman supporter, said Stevenson and Barkley were the two leading alternates to the President.

Campaigning in Ohio yesterday, Kefauver suggested "Congress could really assume control of the nation's purse strings" through the aid of a budget commission working with Congress.

He praised the President's stand on Korea and said: "Our foreign policy is right in taking a stand with the nations of Western Europe."

In other political developments:
1. In New York, Taft was challenged by Commentator Tex McCrary to continue their television debate of Thursday night in which tempers flared and the studio audience booed and cheered. McCrary said he did not call Taft a liar, as the senator had charged, but had merely commented that Taft was "careless with the truth" in his book, "A Foreign Policy for Americans." McCrary is a supporter of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower.

2. In Washington, N. C., Taft's southern campaign manager, Rep. Reece (R-Tenn.), told a Lincoln-Washington Day dinner the people are prepared to drive out of the national capital "the minks, the pinks and the stinks."

A large crowd was on hand for the annual John Deere Day program on Friday afternoon in the Towne theater under the sponsorship of Walter P. Crouse, local John Deere dealer. The affair was free to all farmers and their families and the program included the showing of films including "Galahad Jones" with a Hollywood cast and educational pictures telling about the latest John Deere equipment.

New Castle, Pa., Feb. 25 (AP) - Mayor Edward Decaro says he will stamp out the sale of old auto battery cases for use as fuel because fumes from the boxes may have caused the recent deaths of three youngsters and the illness of 12 others.

He said several families have been asked to stop using the battery boxes for fuel. He said future sales will be prohibited and sellers will be required to gather up unburned boxes.

Magazine Publishes Story On Lincoln's Visit To Gettysburg

Abraham Lincoln's visit to Gettysburg in 1863 is the topic of an article appearing in the February issue of The Express Messenger, publication of the department of personnel and public relations of the Railway Express Agency.

Written by Dr. Frederick Tilberg, historian for the local National Park, the story is titled "Lincoln At Gettysburg" and sub-titled, "On 143rd Anniversary of Emancipator's Birth, Historian Recalls Events Attending Lincoln's Visit."

Two pictures illustrate the article, one showing Gettysburg Railway Express Agent J. S. Paxson and Driver William K. Gilbert before the local Western Maryland railway station, where Lincoln disembarked from the train on November 18, 1863, and the other showing a passenger train of 1863 at the Gettysburg station which is labeled as the "type of locomotive and train which brought Lincoln from Washington to Gettysburg to deliver his famous address."

Doctor Tilberg's article follows: "About two weeks before the dedication of the National Cemetery at Gettysburg, President Lincoln indicated his desire to attend the ceremonies. Secretary of War Stanton arranged for a special train to arrive in Gettysburg on the morning of November 19, 1863, the date of the dedication. Lincoln objected to this schedule, however, as he wanted to be certain that any unforeseen delay during the journey would not result in his arriving late. Arrangements were made to have the train, consisting of four coaches, one of which was a director's car, leave Washington at noon on November 18 and arrive in Gettysburg about six o'clock that evening."

"The special was routed via the

B & O to Baltimore, where a baggage car was added so that lunch could be served enroute. When the train reached Baltimore, the four-car special was transferred by horse car to the tracks of the Northern Central railroad, over which President Lincoln and his party traveled to Hanover Junction, a few miles east of Hanover, Pa. Here the train was transferred to the Hanover Junction, Hanover & Gettysburg Railroad to Gettysburg, the terminal of the line. This road had been formally opened for service on December 16, 1858, and was the only railroad then entering Gettysburg.

"President Lincoln arrived on schedule on the evening of November 18, 1863, at the railway station on Carlisle street, now the home of your Gettysburg office. From there he was escorted to the residence of David Wills, located on the southeast corner of Center Square, a block south of the railway station. There Mr. Lincoln remained overnight as a guest of Mr. Wills. The dedicatory services were scheduled to be held at eleven o'clock the following morning, November 19, but actually did not get under way until early afternoon.

"An interesting historical sidelight for Railway Expressmen is that among those in the procession, which began at Center Square and proceeded to the cemetery, were officers and representatives of the Adams Express Company, one of the predecessors of Railway Express, and officers of the various telegraph companies."

Scientists have determined that, geologically, the North American continent extends far out under the Atlantic.

TAX INFORMERS HAD GOOD YEAR, GOT 480 MILLION

Washington, Feb. 25 (AP)—If you're judging on your income tax return this year, better watch out for nosy neighbors.

The business of tattling to the government on income tax evaders—for a fee—is booming so never before.

The Revenue Bureau reported today it paid out half a million dollars last year to informers who tipped the government to tax violations by business associates or neighbors.

As a result of the tips, revenue agents picked up $9,627,846 more in taxes for the fiscal year which ended June 30.

Get Big Pay

All signs indicate this will be an even bigger year for informers.

Citizens pouring in tips on recurring revenue scandals are likely to uncover even more tax evasion.

In the past three years, payments to informers have averaged $480,000 a year, a tremendous increase over former years.

For 13 years ending in 1948, payments averaged only $71,921 a year. And the $9,627,846 collected last year because of informers' tips compares with an average of only two million during that 13-year period.

Three Main Motives
A revenue official said the chief motives for informers are: envy of wealthier people, revenge against a former boss, to cash in on informers' fees and just plain patriotism.

The amount paid in fees can vary a lot. Some would-be informers have shot in the dark and turned in the names of known gamblers and bootleggers without any evidence. They didn't get a fee even if agents later uncovered a tax violation.

On the other hand, fees up to $20,000 have been paid for detailed and specific information leading to collection of up to two million dollars in taxes in a single case. The smallest reward is likely to be at least $25.

Boasting Costly

In one case in Alabama, an informer gave details on the location of an illicit still. He seemed unusually anxious to catch the operator.

Asked why, he replied—"That's my still—the crooked so and so stole it from me, and I want him caught."

In many cases, a study of revenue files showed, the tax evaders' own boasting of accomplishment leads to his downfall.

And then there's one case where an informer got a sizable fee but made the mistake of failing to report it on his own income tax return next year. He paid back most of the fee in penalties and interest.

TAFT EXPECTS MAC'S BACKING

(By The Associated Press) Sen. Taft of Ohio has told colleagues he is confident Gen. Douglas MacArthur will give him solid support for the Republican presidential nomination when the chips are down at the Chicago convention.

Taft would not comment, but friends say he isn't worried about reports MacArthur might be thinking of himself as a possible nominee if a deadlock develops between Taft and Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Evidence of Taft's confidence in MacArthur was seen yesterday when he said on a television (CBS) program he favored the general addressing the convention. If he does, Taft added, he probably would be the keynote speaker.

But he sidestepped a direct answer to whether he plans to name MacArthur head of the Joint Chiefs of Staff if elected. He said he hasn't been elected yet and was not announcing any appointments.

Taft's supporters regard as significant that MacArthur did not deny Newsweek magazine's article last week that he was a Taft backer.

On the other hand, in commenting on the same article, MacArthur made it clear he is not supporting Eisenhower. Newsweek said he might support Harold E. Stassen or Eisenhower if either beat Taft. MacArthur denied this in a statement, saying he could not back Eisenhower because he didn't know how he stood on many issues.

Nine Brothers Are Honored By Railroad

Baltimore, Feb. 23 (AP)—Nine brothers, formerly of Hanover, Pa., were honored over the week-end by the Western Maryland Railway for their combined 168 years of service with the company.

Company President Eugene S. Williams presented the Rhodes brothers with road emblems as he launched the railroad's centennial celebration. The brothers piled out of a big diesel locomotive in front of the Port Covington yard office to receive their emblems.

The nine are Paul E. 51; H. Sterling, 49; Burrell O. 41; D. Junior, 32; Clinton L. 39; M. Preston, 47; Donald H. 45; Robert K. 35; Richard M. 43. Their father was a farmer at Bittinger's quarry, near Hanover. Their mother, Mrs. Robert Rhodes, lives in Hanover where she is employed at the Central hotel.

The main service of the railroad, which was chartered by the Maryland General Assembly in 1852, connects Hanover, York and Harrisburg, Pa., and Cumberland and Baltimore, Md.

No Deep Freeze Or Mink Coat For Him

Philadelphia, Feb. 23 (AP)—Whether it's a mink coat for his wife, a deep freezer, or just an oil painting of himself, Mayor Joseph S. Clark, Jr., won't accept it.

Since becoming mayor January 7 he's received a portrait of himself, 25 passes to a sportsman's show, a colored photo of the Liberty Bell, season passes to two theaters and a pass for the city transportation system.

All have been returned to the donors. Clark says his policy will be not to accept any gift, even if it is a small one.

Washington, Feb. 23 (AP)—All Republican members of the Pennsylvania delegation in the House favored a resolution to request information on any agreements that might have been reached at the meetings of President Truman and Winston Churchill. The state's Democratic representatives were aligned against the resolution.

The House voted 189 to 143 in favor of the motion last week. All 27 Republicans from Pennsylvania voted or were paired as though voting for the measure while all 13 Democrats voted or were paired against it.

SCIENTISTS GET BREAK TODAY ON SUN'S ECLIPSE

Khartoum, Sudan, Feb. 25 (AP)—The lights went on as the sun went out this morning here in the capital of the Sudan. The moon covered Old Sol completely—for just over three minutes—in a total eclipse shortly after 11 a.m. (4 a.m. EST).

Visibility seemed favorable for the 70 scientists from 10 countries who had waited here for weeks to record the phenomenon with a great mass of complicated astronomical, photographic and electronic equipment.

Prom their observations, and after a lot of calculation and study, they hope to find out more about what's around and behind the sun, whether Einstein was right about relativity and how wrong are some of the world's maps.

9,000-Mile Route
The sky was clear and the weather was cool. No sand was blowing from the surrounding desert.

The scientists—17 teams of them—had come here from the United States, Britain, the Netherlands, France, Italy, Greece, Canada, Egypt, Austria and Switzerland.

Though Russia sent no experts to Khartoum for the big show, presumably they were making their own observations at home. The eclipse, or enough of it to make observation worthwhile, was to be seen along a 9,000-mile route, about 70 miles wide and curving from somewhere in the Atlantic between Brazil and Africa, across Africa and the Arabian and Persian gulfs to the Irkutsk region of Soviet Siberia.

U. S. Saw Nothing
Astronomers calculated that, in the Khartoum area, the moon's shadow started across the sun's face at 9:49 a.m.—(3:49 a.m. EST)—and slipped off the eastern side at 12:30 a.m.—(3:30 a.m. EST).

The eclipse also was partially visible in nearby areas outside the arc of the total blackout. In Cairo, where Helwan observatory made its own observations, 70 per cent of the sun was covered at the maximum. Londoners also watched, and called it a pretty good show, though the Greenwich observatory treated it with indifference since the traverse was so far away from overhead.

The United States, still in darkness, didn't see anything.

WANTED MONEY IN KIDNAPING

Montreal, Feb. 25 (AP)—Police today prepared a kidnapping charge against 16-year-old Robert Patenaude, who told them he didn't know just why he made off with his boss' three-year-old daughter but he "wanted money."

Police said Robert added that he had gotten the $50,000 he demanded, "probably I would have buried it somewhere."

Young Patenaude and the child, Barbara Nemeroff, were picked up in a shopping crowd on Montreal's main street Saturday. She was returned, apparently unharmed, to her parents, Morris Nemeroff and his wife.

Police said the youth denied he had a grudge against his employer, who operates a leather goods shop. Earlier, they said, Patenaude told them Nemeroff had refused him a raise.

As yet no charges were filed. Officials said the investigation was not complete. The maximum penalty for kidnapping in Canada is 25 years.

Patenaude allegedly grabbed the child from a maid at the Nemeroff home Friday night, leaving a ransom note demanding $50,000 on the way out. A woman saw the youth and the little girl walking on the street next morning, recognized
